RESIDENTS TO LEARN ABOUT CITY'S PILOT SEPARATION PROJECT

INDIANAPOLIS – Mayor Greg Ballard, the Office of Sustainability and the Department of Public Works (DPW) will hold a public meeting to discuss plans for the city's pilot separation project on Thursday, June 25, at 6 p.m. The project will be constructed near Fall Creek Parkway and College Avenue, and residents and neighborhood representatives in this area have been invited to attend the meeting.

WHEN: Thursday, June 25, 2009
6 to 7 p.m.

WHERE: Broadway United Methodist Church, 609 E. 29th St., Community Room

VISUALS: Mayor Ballard will join representatives from the city's Office of Sustainability and DPW in presenting project details to area residents.

MEDIA AVAILABILITY:

Mayor Ballard, Office of Sustainability Director Kären Haley and DPW Chief Engineer Steve Nielsen will be available for media interviews prior to the public meeting from 5:30 to 6 p.m. across the street from the church along Fall Creek. This location is where the green infrastructure project will be constructed. Members of the media may park vehicles in the church parking lot or on the north side of 29th Street. Contact Jen Pittman at (317) 327-5799 with questions.
